EDDIE PLANK CLAY TARGET TOURNEY HERE

Two-Day Affair in September Receives Official Sanction, Says
Howard C. Mit-
inger.

For the first time in the history of Clay Target Tournament shooting, a registered event will be held, the proceeds of which will be devoted to perpetuate the memory of a former shooter.

This information is contained in an announcement this morning by Howard C. Mitinger, manager of the Hoffman Hotel and secretary of the Gettysburg Gun Club, to the effect that a registered clay target tournament will be held in Gettysburg, Monday and Tuesday, September 13 and 14, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the Eddie Plank Memorial Gymnasium fund.

One of the two days will be designated as "Eddie Plank Day" and the net proceeds will be turned over to the Memorial Fund. The registered tournament has been classified the "Eddie Plank Clay Target Tournament," and has been listed and received the official recognition of National Headquarters at Vandalia, Ohio.

Gets Sanction

This is the first time in the history of the popular sport that such a tournament has been staged, with the sanction of National Headquarters as well as the endorsement of Steve Crothers, national clay target champion; Andy Somers and hundreds of others, ranking high in the clay target world.

Plank was a member of the local gun club and took an active part in its administration. His ceaseless efforts and tireless energy aided greatly in placing the local club on the level it enjoys, not only in Pennsylvania but throughout the country, where information as to its various tournaments and its hospitality has been broadcast by the national secretary.

Mr. Mitinger said this morning that he had discussed the plan with a number of shooters throughout the East and that all expressed hearty approval of the plan.

"It is only just that we do our share to perpetuate the memory of Eddie Plank," said one of the ranking shooters.

"He was a loyal member of the Gettysburg club, active in the sport and this combined with his efforts on the baseball diamond won a position of prominence for him in the field of sport. You are doing a very worthy thing by participating in the movement to perpetuate his memory and I will do everything I can to assist you," said National Champion Steve Crothers.

Mr. Crothers will attend the two-day shoot here in September. This shoot follows the Grand American Handicap in Vandalia, Ohio, the latter part of this month.

AGED FARMER DIES SUDDENLY

William Hikes, 74, Succumbs At Home of Daughter Near Biglerville.

Failing to respond to the call for dinner today, William Hikes, 74, life-long resident of Idaville, was found dead in bed at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Harry Asper, near Biglerville, shortly before 12 o'clock today. Death was due to a complication of diseases.

Mr. Hikes, who had been residing with Mrs. Asper since March, was in his usual health when he arose this morning. Later he complained of illness and went up stairs to lie down. When he failed to respond to the call for dinner, he was found dead in bed.

Mr. Hikes was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Hikes and is survived by one son, Elmer H. Hikes, Gardner, and one daughter, Mrs. Harry Asper, near Biglerville.

Five sisters survive. They are Miss Sarah Hikes, Latimore township; Mrs. Lewis Bushey, Dillsburg; Mrs. Mary Kimmel, Dillsburg, and Miss Louisa Hikes, York Springs. Six grandchildren also survive.

Mr. Hikes, a retired farmer, was a life-long member of Ground Oak Lutheran church.

Believed Last of Civil War Nurses in Gettysburg; Tells of Heroic Efforts of Women

Mrs. Amanda E. Rupp, Now 86, Unable to Attend Convention of National Association of Women Who Helped to Minister to Wounded During Great Strife; Nursed Many Here.

Mrs. Amanda E. Rupp, 26 Stevens street, only surviving Civil War nurse in Gettysburg and one of less than fifty in the United States, will be unable to attend the annual convention of the National Association of Army Nurses of the Civil War, which will be held at Des Moines, Iowa, September 19 to 24, simultaneously with the annual national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Although the spirit is willing, Mrs. Rupp feels that her physical condition would not permit her to take the long trip to Des Moines and return, and to participate in the sessions of the few surviving members of the nurses' association. At the convention in Grand Rapids last year only five of the heroic group of Civil War nurses, who ministered to the sick and wounded Wearers of the Blue, were in attendance. No more than six are expected to attend the session this year.

Three From Gettysburg
Mrs. Rupp, who in October will celebrate her eighty-sixth birthday, is the last of three Gettysburg women, who were members of the nurses' association, although Mrs. Rupp said today that other local women probably would have been eligible for membership, but have now passed on. The other two women who belonged to the organization were Mrs. Salome Stewart, mother of Dr. Henry Stewart, Baltimore street, and Miss Alice Powers.

Mrs. Rupp, the widow of William H. Rupp, orderly sergeant in Co. A, 26th Pennsylvania Volunteers, joined the nurses' association at the 1912 convention in Atlantic City. She attended that convention and another at Washington, D. C.

Administered To Wounded
Mrs. Rupp, whose maiden name was Renecker, resided with an aunt, Mrs. Nancy Weikert, in a house on the site of C. P. Cessna's Gift Shop, Chambersburg street, at the time of the Battle of Gettysburg.

MARKET PRICES REMAIN FIRM

Although offerings were abundant at curb market today, prices remained unchanged for the most part since last Saturday. Apples held firm at from 20 to 40 cents a peck, with cling stone peaches selling from 25 to 35 cents a large box.

Corn was plentiful at 15 and 20 cents a dozen. New potatoes sold from 50 to 60 cents a peck. Eggs held firm at 30 cents a dozen.

Thermos, Stanley, Universal bottles, pints, quarts, half gallons, Alladin gallons—keep things hot or cold. People's Drug Store, The Rexall, Kodak, Victrola Store.

It was Mrs. Rupp's aunt, who secured the key from the frightened sexton of Christ Lutheran church to open the doors of the church so that the wounded would have a place of refuge. Mrs. Rupp, then a young woman of 22, courageously helped wash and bind up the wounds of the injured both in the church and at her home.

On the night of the first day's engagement, when the Confederates held the whip hand, Mrs. Rupp made gallons and gallons of coffee for the suffering, maimed men in Christ Lutheran church.

Mrs. Rupp recalls that on the morning of July 1 she heard the "Star Spangled Banner" played in Center Square by Union bands, and in the evening the strains of "Dixie" played by wearers of the Grey sounded through the town.

Worked At Hospital
In addition to her services in behalf of the wounded at her home and at Christ Lutheran church, Mrs. Rupp also went to the field hospital at what is now Natural Springs Park, where she and her aunt worked until exhausted to alleviate pain and dress the wounds of the injured.

Mrs. Rupp has received a letter from Mrs. Alice Carey Risley, Columbia, Missouri, president of the nurses' association for the past eleven years, urging her to attend the convention sessions, if possible, and outlining the program arranged. Mrs. Risley has been president of the organization for 11 years, and estimates that no more than a half dozen of the less than fifty members of the association will attend this year's gathering.

One of the oldest surviving members is Catherine M. Beck, Wichita, Kansas, department president of Kansas and Missouri, who is more than 91 years old. Nearly all of the other members average about 86 years of age.

DR. WENTZ WILL PREACH SUNDAY

The Rev. Dr. A. R. Wentz, of the Gettysburg Theological Seminary, will occupy the pulpit at both morning and evening services Sunday in Zion Lutheran church, Harrisburg.

His theme at the morning service will be "Teaching to Pray," and at the evening service "Braving Opposition."

Bargain event extraordinary for Saturday—Lest's will sell a pair of ladies' guaranteed full fashioned silk stockings, $1.65 value, for 50c. Lest's, on the square.

GUARDS RETURN FROM TRAINING

Motor Repair Section Back
Again After Spending Two Weeks at Mt. Gretna.

Members of the Motor Repair Section, No. 105, attached to the Twenty-eighth Division, Pennsylvania National Guards, and recruited from Gettysburg and Adams county, trekked home today, after two weeks of taining under a sweltering sun at Camp Edmund Lynch, Mt. Gretna.

The men under the command of Second Lieutenant Ralph C. Deatriek left Gettysburg on July 31 for their annual training period of two weeks and broke camp Friday evening.

A majority of the troopers arrived here on the afternoon train, while several returned during the morning by automobile.

Those who were in camp besides Lieutenant Deatriek were: Sergeant Frank Stokes, Sergeant Marsby C. Little, Corporal Edward Wenschhoff, Privates George A. Hughes, Bernard L. Gordon, Charles C. Reaver, Charles C. Sheads, William W. Witherow, Harry F. Aumen, John M. Cook, John E. Eckenrode, Joseph Hemler, Ralph R. Millhimes, Harry R. Moser, Donald C. Raffensperger, John M. Stevens, Maurice C. Snyder, Edward J. Settle, Wilbur Weikert, Clement T. Woutersz and Delbert L. Wenschhoff.

REV. COLE STILL IS IN HOSPITAL

Pastor of Methodist Church
May Have to Undergo Third
Operation in Philadelphia.

The Rev. C. C. Cole, resigned pastor of the Gettysburg Methodist Episcopal church, is improving in the United States naval hospital, Philadelphia, according to Mrs. Cole, who has returned to Gettysburg to make arrangements for moving away.

The minister underwent two operations since entering the naval hospital, Mrs. Cole said, one for the removal of his tonsils, and the other for an obstruction in the nose. Her husband is now undergoing treatment at the hospital, and may have to submit to another operation on his nose.

The minister's plans for the future are indefinite, Mrs. Cole said. The family will move away from Gettysburg, Mrs. Cole and her two children leaving next Tuesday. Most of the household furniture has already been shipped. Mrs. Cole said she expected to go to New York City after spending some time with her husband in Philadelphia.

Rev. Mr. Cole, a veteran of the world war, was pastor here eighteen months, and was one of the most popular ministers in Gettysburg. To many he was known as "the fighting parson," by reason of his war record. He was gassed overseas, and his present trouble is said to be the result of the gas.

His successor here has not been named. Naming of a man to succeed Rev. Mr. Cole is in the hands of the Rev. J. Edward Ake, Harrisburg district superintendent, who first will secure the approval of the local congregation to the newcomer.

Because members of the church council were unable to secure a supply pastor for Sunday, the only service at the Methodist church will be Sunday school.

"Gettysburg Is Too Modest" Financier Observes In Visit To Town And Battlefield

"Tourists More Impressed With Historic Significance of Town Than Residents," Says Jeremiah J. Sullivan, Jr., in Urging National Advertising Campaign for Travelers.

"You people of Gettysburg are too modest," my close friend, Mr. Meade," he went on, "that the discussion of the significance of what this battle meant to the nation aroused my interest. Procuring the two volumes of the life and letters of General George Gordon Meade, which have been compiled by Mr. Meade, I read them with avidity, and not until then did I visualize the momentous part which the victory of General Meade over General Lee at this spot meant to the nation and also to humanity."

Shrine Of Humanity
"Think of it. During the years of the conflict of the Civil War, Europe, Asia and all parts of the civilized world looked on with rapt interest as brother fought brother. The climax came, as practically all historians agree, with the Battle of Gettysburg, and it is this place which should be a shrine of humanity."

"But to get back to my original statement. The interest which the people here have in broadcasting the real significance of the battle so that tourists to this country and of this country would visit it with the same curiosity as a foreign visitor seeks out the Woolworth tower in New York City, of the historic buildings at Washington, is not on a par to what interest should be shown in so national a monument to the sacrifice of the men who fought here."

"This is not an oratorical effusion, but a suggestion, first for the advancement of the town, second for the advantage of the people who conduct stores, lodging houses, hotels, and the banks, and third, for the education of the great mass of people who do not understand the true significance of the battle and its historic value, which is fast falling away with the oncoming generation."

Visitors Enthusiastic
Prefacing his remarks with the hope that he would not offend his auditors, but that on the other hand he would be able to show the truthfulness of his remarks, he assuaged those who had the privilege of talking with him with the thrust: "For the first time, I have found a place which the visitors think more of than the native residents."

After the expressions of astonishment he quickly added, "At least that is true in my case."

By way of making clear his pointed assertion he explained briefly that his business was in the past and still is of such a nature that he travels extensively, to almost any known part of the world, citing two trips to the Orient and a number to Europe, but he added, "But this is the first time I have ever been to Gettysburg. Living in West Virginia or else in Philadelphia and other parts of the East, practically all of my life, I had not had my curiosity sufficiently aroused to visit this historic battlefield, upon which the history of the United States, not the history of the world, depended, sixty three years ago."

"You know," he said, "I always considered Gettysburg as a place where one ought to go, just like the National cemetery at Arlington, but one never does."

CATHOLIC WOMEN MEET AT SESQUI

Local Members of Diocesan
Council Expected to Attend
Sessions Next Week.

The members of the Harrisburg Diocesan Council of the National Council of Catholic Women, of which a number of local women are associated, and the Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women, of the same national body, will conduct programs on two days, August 18 and 19, in the Pennsylvania building, Sesqui-Centennial grounds, Philadelphia.

Miss Mary Ramer, of this place, is assistant secretary of the Harrisburg council and Mrs. Edgar Hamilton is a member of the board of directors.

It is expected that some of the local members will attend the sessions which will be held in celebration of the 154th anniversary of the Independence of America.

On the first day one of the chief features of the program will be the address to be given by P. A. Kennedy, of Harrisburg, on "Conewago, The Mother Parish of Pennsylvania." This parish is the oldest in the state, its history being all but lost in the dim pages of history.

The Rev. Paul E. Campbell, superintendent of the diocesan schools of Pittsburgh, will also speak on the "Catholic Pioneers of Western Pennsylvania."

On Thursday, Miss Anna Dill Gamble, of York, president of the Harrisburg council, will discuss the "Continental Congress at York, in 1777 and 1778," and Miss Elizabeth S. Kite, of Washington, D. C., will address the assemblage, on "The Contribution of Catholic France to American Independence."

In addition to these addresses a program of instrumental and vocal music will be rendered.

PROSECUTIONS OF DOG OWNERS 20 LESS DURING YEAR

Claims for Destruction of Livestock Is Same,
But Value Is Slightly
Smaller, Field
Agent Says.

The number of prosecutions for alleged violations of the dog laws in Adams, Cumberland, Franklin and Fulton counties was 20 less for the year ending August 1, than for twelve months preceding August 1, 1925, according to a comparative statement of the activities of George A. Raffensperger, Straban township, field agent for the state department, bureau of animal industry, in the four counties.

The number of prosecutions for the period ending August 1, this year, was 122, while during the year ending August 1, 1925, 142 prosecutions were made. No prosecutions were made before August 1, this year, in Fulton county, the field agent reserving that county for the fall and early winter months. The number of prosecutions in the other counties were Adams, 20, as compared with 33 a year ago; Cumberland, 66, as compared with 69, and Franklin, 36, compared with 39.

Claims Are Less
Although the number of claims arising from destruction of farm livestock through ravages of dogs in the four counties were the same, 59, on August 1, this year, and August 1, 1925, the amount of the claims at the beginning of August this year was $1,475.85 as compared with $1,541.85 a year ago.

The amount of the claims in Adams county was $206.90; Franklin, $431; Cumberland, $783.65, and Fulton, $54.30. Adams county had 14 claims for the year ending August 1, 1926; Cumberland county, 24; Franklin, 18, and Fulton, 3. There was an increase of almost $500 in the amount of the claims for damages in Cumberland county during the last year, due to the depredations of stray dogs on farms in the vicinity of Newville, Shippensburg and Carlisle.

Licenses Increase
On July 1, this year, 3869 dog licenses had been issued in Adams county as compared with 3963 for the year ending July 1, 1925. In Cumberland township, 5793 dogs were licensed during the first six months this year as compared with 5458 to July 1, 1925. In Franklin county, 5327 animals were licensed on July 1, this year, and in Fulton county, 1272.

Since July 1, the number of dog licenses issued so far this year has been increased to 3977. The number is growing steadily in both Cumberland and Franklin counties.

EMANUEL'S TEAM IS GIVEN GATE

"Snaps" Mostly Gettysburg Aggregation at Dillsburg Is Ruled Out of League.

"Snaps" Emanuel's baseball team at Dillsburg, made up largely of Gettysburg College diamond stars, has been ruled out of the Cumberland County Baseball League, it is announced at Carlisle by John Plough, president of the league.

So "Snaps," star athlete at Gettysburg College, who holds a first class high school job during the school term and manages baseball teams on the side during the summer months, as a matter of diversion, is in retirement at his home in Harrisburg, resting on his laurels. Here's the remainder of the story of Dillsburg's undoing, as told by a Carlisle news writer:

"The three remaining teams, LeMoine, Mt. Holly Springs Independents and Carlisle, will finish the season which closes August 31.

"The remainder of the schedule of eleven games will be reduced to five since six of them had been contests in which the Dillsburg team was to have played.

"The action taken by the league officials followed a rumpus on Bidle Field here Tuesday night when Dillsburg was to have played Carlisle.

"A disagreement arose on the field as to which team was entitled to the use of the diamond for batting practice prior to the game. An attempt to amicably settle the controversy by the managers, Benny Kline, of Carlisle, and Snaps Emanuel, of Dillsburg, resulted in blows.

"Emanuel was ordered from the field by Caretaker Francis and then removed by Police Chief C. Ross Trimmer. Dillsburg refused to play the game without Emanuel and the game was declared forfeited to Carlisle.

"Because of the action of the Dillsburg team in refusing to play the game after several hundred fans had entered the grounds the league officials decided to discipline them by barring them from the league.

"Dillsburg was tied with the Mt. Holly team for second place with a .500 percentage and three games behind the Carlisle team which was leading the league. Friday night's scheduled game, Carlisle at Dillsburg, was not played."

Upset in Ranks of Pittsburgh Team

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14.—The unconditional release of Babe Adams and Carson Bigbee and the suspension of Capt. Max Carey without pay, indefinitely, was announced last night at Pittsburgh baseball headquarters, after a meeting of the players with officials to discuss dissension in the ranks. Club officials said waivers would be asked on Carey and that he would be shipped immediately to any club claiming him. Pie Traynor was named captain.

The shake-up in the ranks of the 1925 world's champions followed a movement, led by the three players, to oust from the players' bench Fred Clarke, former manager of the club and now vice president and adviser to Manager McKechnie.

Georgia Banker Is Indicted for Felony

Atlanta, Aug. 14.—An indictment charging a felony was returned late Friday against W. D. Manley, president of the Farmers' and Traders' Bank of Atlanta, by the Fulton county grand jury, which investigated the recent closing of the bank.

A warrant was issued for the arrested closing of the parent institution he was in a hospital at Milledgeville, Georgia.

Manley also is president of the Bankers' Trust Company of Atlanta, now in receivership. This institution was fiscal agent for eighty-three banks in Georgia whose closing followed the closing of the parent institution here.

The indictment charges Manley allowed the Farmers' and Traders' Bank "to become fraudulently insolvent" on July 12 last.

STARVES HIMSELF TO CHEAT CHAIR

Man Doomed to Be Executed Dies from Starvation Strike of Sixty-five Days.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 14.—An aged Arkansas Negro went to his grave yesterday triumphant in a slow and stealthy race against death by electrocution. While Gov. Tom J. Terral, campaigning for re-nomination, delayed fixing a date on which Tom Stribling, Crittenden county, should be executed for murder, Stribling for sixty-five days refused the meals that were given him and died from pneumonia, induced by starvation.

He carried out his campaign despite the fact that several well known citizens were preparing to appeal to the governor for clemency. Stribling had always denied that he killed a Negro who had attacked his daughter some time before. A jury and the Supreme Court failed to accept his alibi.

Knew Nothing of Past

His sentence was affirmed three months ago and he was placed in a cell with two other condemned Negroes. On the day the other two were executed Stribling began his fast.

Penitentiary authorities did not know of it until two weeks ago. He took the meals that were passed through the bars. It was noted, however, that he spent most of his time lying on his cot, refusing to exercise. All the time Stribling was consigning his food to the drain pipes, taking only an occasional swallow of milk.

Sought To Beat Chair

After his removal to the hospital he abandoned his attempt at concealment and declared himself on a "hunger strike." Friends of the old Negro believe, however, that his purpose was not to bid for freedom or commutation, but, in his own words, to "beat the electric chair" by starvation.

GARDNER—VAUGHN

A pretty wedding was solemnized when Miss Roumane Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Gardner, of Latimore, and John Wesley Vaughan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Vaughan, of Washington, D. C., were married at noon, Wednesday, August 4. The ceremony was performed at the Memorial United Brethren church, Washington, by the Rev. S. B. Daugherty, pastor of the church.

Mrs. Harry Gardner, aunt of the bride, played the wedding march.

The bride wore a gown of white georgette crepe, studded with rhinestones, and a large white hat of horsehair. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, George E. Gardner. Her sister, Miss Lulu Gardner, was bridesmaid and wore an orchid chiffon frock with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds. Earle Buckingham was best man and Harry Gardner, usher.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle, George E. Gardner, First street, N. W.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan left for a motor trip through the North and on their return will be at home at 2807 Connecticut avenue, Washington, D. C.

WOMAN ACCUSES
HALL SLAYERS

"Pig Woman" Identifies Cousin and Brother of Rector's Wife at Preliminary Hearing.

Somerville, N. J., Aug. 14.—A caloused finger, brown and accusing, was leveled direct at Henry D. Carpenter, New York and New Brunswick county millionaire, in the Somerset county courthouse yesterday as the man who stood beneath the crab apple tree and held a "glittering object" immediately before the shots that killed the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, his choir singer, on the night of September 14, 1922.

The dramatic identification by Mrs. Jane Gibson came at a preliminary hearing, which will be continued Monday before Judge Frank L. Cleary in connection with the arrest of Mr. Carpenter and Willie Stevens on the charge of murder. Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, charged with the same crime, is out in $15,000 bail.

By pointing straight in his smiling face and later by laying her head on his sleeve, Mrs. Gibson for the first time publicly identified Mr. Carpenter, who is the cousin of Mrs. Hall. He returned her stare with an inscrutable look and gave no sign of emotion.

In the same matter of fact way she identified Willie Stevens, Mrs. Hall's brother, as the man who stood by the car near the crab apple tree and held a flashlight. With a final gesture the woman pig raiser named Mrs. Hall as the woman in gray who wept over the body of the rector and cried, "Oh, Henry."

Throwing his case wide open, State Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor appointed by Governor Moore to reopen the Hall-Mills investigation, followed the unusual course of presenting much of his evidence and putting his star witnesses on the stand.

They came in rapid succession—the squat woman-raiser of pigs sticking to every detail of the story she told four years ago; pretty, fragile Charlotte Mills, who talked with a lump in her throat of her mother, and Louise Geist, the smart and smooth-tongued housemaid, who proved a hostile witness for the prosecution.

The cousins had spent the night in the same cell in the Somerset county jail. Prosecutor Simpson was disturbed to learn this when he arrived here Friday morning and the accused pair are now occupying separate cells. In the same jail a new witness, who is said to have been largely instrumental in precipitating the arrests, was lodged last night after being held in $3,000 bail as a material witness. His name is William Steab, of New Brunswick, and he is said to have been within seventy-five feet of the crab apple tree when the "double crime" was committed.

LIFE SAVED BY RUBBER BOOTS

Reading Fisherman Attributes Escape from Death by Lightning to "Gums" He Wore.

Reading, Aug. 14.—"The old rubber boots saved me," said Heber Haws, 54, a barber, who was struck by lightning while fishing in Manatawny Creek, several miles from here.

Haws is a patient at the Homeopathic Hospital, the lower part of his body paralyzed and his legs and arms burned by the lightning.

"I felt life being torn from my body. I was crushed to the ground as though I had been struck by a sledge hammer. There was a flash, then darkness," Haws said yesterday.

For two hours his one arm pinned under his body and his legs useless, Haws clawed the ground with his free hand and managed to drag himself from the edge of the creek, where he was tossed by the lightning. One false move and he would have slipped into the water and drowned.

"My face was buried in the mud," said Haws, illustrating his predicament by movements in his bed. "The rain was so hard that it filled my ears. I realized that unless I could move myself from the water's edge I might slip into the creek and drown."

"With my one free hand I managed to grasp a tree root. It took me fully two hours to drag my body six inches from the spot where I was thrown, and there I lay before my calls for help attracted farmers nearby."

"The storm started and I raised an umbrella to keep off the rain. My line was in the water and I was about six feet away from the creek's edge. I thought at the time that I might be hit by lightning, but the chances seemed greatly against it."

"There was a flash, like the blowing out of a fuse. I was knocked to the ground and I felt as though every nerve was being torn out of my body. I was stunned by the blow, my clothes were torn into shreds, but not for a moment was I unconscious."

"I felt that my end was near. It was like being blown off the earth. My mind was gone for fully a minute. I told myself it was all over. Then I drew a breath."

"That's good," I said in my mind. Then came another long breath. "That's better," my mind repeated. When I started to breath normally I knew I had a chance."

The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted
By DOROTHY A. F. MARCELL

Copyright, 1925, Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.
"THE WIFE WHO WASN'T WANTED" with Irene Rich is a picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Manning, the country club party in celebration of his twenty-first birthday having ended, is accompanying Diane Bledsoe and another couple to Calkin's Inn for more dancing. He is doing this in spite of the tears of Margaret Patterson, who is in love with him. Theo Saturn is too sleepy to drive the car safely and Bob takes his place at the wheel, with Diane at his side, constantly imploring him to "Drive faster, step on it."

"Don't," objected Bob sharply as he gripped the wheel anew to meet their fresh onrush.

As if beset by a demon of recklessness Diane laughed wildly and pressed again and again upon the accelerator until the car was leaping through the night at a terrific pace.

"Hane, stop it," protested Bob sharply, and when she still persisted, "If you want to drive—drive."

There followed a moment of confusion and startled cries from the half asleep passengers on the back seat as the car swerved suddenly, as if uncontrolled.

Then, like a mad thing un-leashed, it rushed onward faster, ever faster—rushed onward amidst the excited cries of its occupants, careless of a motorcycle policeman hanging doggedly on its trail, heedless of a crossroads before it and of a distant honk which came down the breeze.

In the flash of a second brakes screamed, a roadster seemed to leap out of the darkness into the glare of their lights. There was a glimpse of a woman, white faced and horrified, staring at them. Shriill, frightened screams pierced the night. Then, crash.

"Oh, yes, sir, I was in the car, but I wasn't driving."

In that second ruin was wrought. The boasted mechanical achievements of man became a tangled mass of wreckage. Aye, and there was human wreckage, too, perhaps, for from that shattered pile came groans and faint cries, while blood—human blood—ran forth to form a red pool upon the black surface of the roadway.

Straight towards this horror came the Manning car, bearing Eileen and Marjorie. Disturbed though she was by Bob's unceremonious desertion of Marjorie for Diane Bledsoe and the doubtful joys of Calkin's Inn, Eileen had found some crumbs of comfort. It might be no more than a sweet-heart's quarrel, a passing outbreak, to be healed by the sweet balm of forgiveness. The trip to Calkin's Inn, a flash of waywardness for which Bob would promptly repent, Eileen thought she knew her Bob and, knowing him, was reassured.

To such a conclusion had her thoughts led, when suddenly the car slowed, then stopped.

"There is trouble ahead, ma'am. The road is blocked, and I can't get through," reported James, the chauffeur.

"Walk ahead and find out what it is, please, James. And hurry," she added with a premonition of trouble.

He moved off, but was back in a few moments, his countenance very grave.

"There has been a bad wreck, ma'am. Mr. Saturn's car was in the crash. I recognized it as soon as I saw it."

Marjorie gave a cry of alarm; but, shaken by dread as she was, uttered managed to speak

"And Bob—was Bob hurt, James?"

"No, ma'am," the chauffeur responded promptly to go on with evident reluctance. "Please, ma'am—they've taken Mr. Bob to the police station, ma'am."

CHAPTER V

It was a lofty, brightly lighted room. A room with all the attributes of cheerfulness, yet gloomy and depressing, as if some taint of the prison cells beyond had leaked forth to fill the atmosphere with vague apprehension and foreboding. A long railing paralleled one side of it, and behind this was a raised desk, at which sat a police sergeant. Ordinarily his was a good humored face, but tonight it was stern and severe as he gazed down at the young people grouped before him.

And what a change had an hour wrought in these hilarious merry-makers from Bob Manning's birthday party? What an ending to so happy a day? Diane Bledsoe was there, clinging to Theo Saturn as if expecting to find in his weak and dissipated nature the arm support she so needed in this hour of trial. Now her light-hearted gaiety had departed, her care-free indifference faded. Face to face with stern reality, she was but a frightened girl shocked to the point of tears by the ordeal she had experienced. Confronted by a new world of stern and unyielding possibilities, she awaited with fear and trembling what the future held in store for her. Theo Saturn, too, seemed another person. Shorn of his half insolent self confidence, he stood exposed, a sorry spectacle. A scared boy; even worse, a weakling, a coward unmasked. Bob stood apart. Sadly shaken by the accident, he seemed bewildered by it all, yet met it gamely. In his manner was proof of the good stock from which he sprang. He might be mistaken, aye, wrong, but he would face the consequences squarely.

Slowly and with palstating care the sergeant inscribed the names of the trio on the page before him, the silence of the room broken only by the scratch of his pen and the louder tick of the big clock upon the wall. Then he raised his eyes to fix a glance of inquiry upon an officer who entered hastily from an adjacent room.

"We have finally managed to locate the District Attorney," he reported. "He says to hold the prisoners until he arrives. He will be right down."

The words seemed to arouse Bob. Shaking off the lethargy which held him, he glanced up with a startled air.

"See here," he protested wildly. "Not him—don't send for him! No, no!"

The sergeant's eyes dropped to the page before him. Then he raised them to shoot a curious glance at Bob, but only to quickly center his attention upon Theo Saturn.

"The city car is registered in your name. It is your car. Were you driving at the time of the accident?"

There was something almost frantic in the eagerness with which Theo responded.

"No, no, sir. I wasn't near the wheel. I had given it up. I was very tired, sir. I gave up the wheel a long time before the accident, away back along the road. It must have been five, ten, fifteen miles back—maybe more."

"Hold on—you were in the car, weren't you? If you keep on, you never started."

"Oh, yes, sir. I was in the car, but I wasn't driving. I'm an awful careful driver myself. You can look up my record—I never had an accident in my life—that is, a real accident. I'm very careful about all the traffic rules and everything." Now there was a note of triumph in Theo's tones.

"You see, being tired, I wouldn't even drive, that's why I gave up the—"

"So you said," interrupted the sergeant dryly. "Too bad you got so tired—things might have been different. You are quite sure you hadn't been drinking any bad hooch, are you—to make you so tired?"

Theo looked shocked, also even more flustered than before.

"Drinking? Oh, no, sir. I never, that is, er—I hardly ever—"

Out of the Past

Happenings of Days Gone by as Chronicled in The Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times, the Files Reveal.

TEN YEARS AGO

Gettysburg Couple Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary.—Hale and hearty despite the fact that both are well past the three score and ten mark, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Miller, York street, received the congratulations of their friends on the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, Saturday. About one hundred relatives and friends were present for a reception held at the home between the hours of 1 and 5.

The Miller home was appropriately decorated for the occasion, golden colored flowers being tastefully arranged to carry out the anniversary color scheme.

The ceremony was performed August 12, 1886, by the Rev. H. A. Schleicher, then pastor of Salem United Brethren church.

The five children of Mr. and Mrs. Miller are C. Harry Miller, of Wautoma, Wisconsin; Robert C. Miller, (our present postmaster); Norton C. Miller, (town mail carrier); and Miss Carrie Miller, (teacher in the grammar school), all of Gettysburg, and F. O. Miller, Altoona, (now manager of Graefenberg Inn).

$2800 Raised for Church Fund at St. John's Dedication.—The new $10,500 edifice to house St. John's congregation near Littlestown, of which Rev. L. M. Lau is pastor, was dedicated yesterday with appropriate ceremonies.

The church as it stands represents an indebtedness of but $1,700, the balance having been raised before the work of erection was commenced and at the services yesterday. Subscriptions at the morning services yesterday amounted to $2200 and at the afternoon and evening services $600.

Plank A Big Factor in Brownies Streak.—Eddie Plank, battle-scarred from sixteen years in the big show but apparently with none of his pitching prowess lost in the grilling games he has hurled, is one of the leading figures in the pennantward march of St. Louis Brownies.

Plank held the slugging Cleveland Indians to two hits Saturday, both of them made by Tris Speaker, who is at present leading the American League swatters by a big margin. The Indians were never in danger of scoring, the old master having everything to keep the Cleveland crowd under his control.

In the last thirty innings he has pitched, Plank has yielded the remarkable total of five hits and allowed two runs to be scored as a result of them. On August 4 the veteran allowed Boston two hits. In his next game August 9 he gave Washington one hit, a no-hit record being spoiled in the ninth inning.

The Brownies are now in fourth place, just 4½ games behind the league leaders. Fielder Jones' team made a wonderful spurt, winning fourteen straight games and 23 out of the last 25 starts.

Orders from the State Department of Health went out Friday evening to Health Officers over the state of Pennsylvania to guard all gateways into the state, to keep out the dreaded disease of infantile paralysis, which is sweeping the country.

Speaker Champ Clark Here For Trip Over Battlefield.—Speaker Champ Clark of the House of Representatives with a party of friends spent a few hours on the battlefield yesterday afternoon. They left for Washington after dark. A. H. Butt was their guide.

Have Pleasant Outing At Caledonia Park.—A very pleasant outing at Caledonia Park was enjoyed by the following persons: Mr. and Mrs. William P. Weikert, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Riddlemoser, Mrs. John Butt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mundorff, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Robert, Mr. and Mrs. John Lower and daughter, Louise, and Paul and Alma Weikert, all of McKnightstown; J. Allen Dickson and family, Gettysburg; Miss Elizabeth Gitt, Hanover, and Mr. and Mrs. John Riddlemoser and son, York.

Personal Paragraphs.—Clarence Epley, Boundbrook, New Jersey, is visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Epley, York street.

Miss Helen Pfeffer returned to her home on Baltimore street after visiting in York and Hanover.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garvin are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frommer, Chambersburg street.

Mervin Sterner returned to York after visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sterner, for the past week.

Rev. Harry Beidelman returned to Frostburg, Maryland, after spending several days here.

Miss Esther Crouse has returned to her home on Baltimore street, after visiting relatives in Stenton.

Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Seebach and sons, John and Arthur, have returned to their home at Hollidaysburg, after a visit at the home of Mrs. Seebach's parents, Dr. and Mrs. John A. Himes, Carlisle street.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther McDonnell have returned to their home on Baltimore street after a week's visit with friends at Bittering's Station.

Miss Edna Bowers has returned to her home on Breckenridge street after a visit of ten days with friends and relatives in Hanover.

Arthur Woodward, Harrisburg, is spending some time with relatives here.

Rev. and Mrs. Luther Seiber and child, Roanoke, Virginia, are spending some time at the home of Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Seiber, West Middle street.

DEMPSEY 'A LIAR' WILLS SAYS

Negro Boxer Is Ready for Free Match at Broadway and Forty-second Street.

(The Associated Press.) New York, Aug. 14.—Harry Wills told the New York Sun Friday that he is ready to fight Jack Dempsey for nothing, just for the satisfaction of knocking out the champion.

The negro who had vainly sought a match with Dempsey for nearly 6 years joined his manager, Paddy Mullins, in calling the champion "a liar" for his assertion that he tried to make a match.

"I've been reading in the papers that Dempsey says he tried to get me in the ring for the last 5 years," Wills is quoted as saying by the Sun. "He's a liar."

"If he keeps on fussing around with that sort of stuff he won't have to wait until he gets me in the ring. He can fight me in the street."

"I'll fight Dempsey any time he wants to meet me at Broadway and 42nd street, and I don't want a penny."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

YESTERDAYS

CARRY in my pocket a little "mascot" in the shape of an ivory figure that the Eskimo Indians of Alaska carved out in the odd hours during the long winter months. I am told that it was made from the tusk of a walrus and may be thousands of years old.

I sat for a long time recently before the beautiful Grand Canyon of Yellowstone Park and studied and loved the wonderful formations of rocks that stood so majestically beside the clear river. On one high peak I saw an eagle's nest. Higher I saw the graceful form of this bird bathe its body in the air.

I thought of the thousands, perhaps millions of years that have gone by since that Canyon was created. It made up a whole history of yesterdays.

In Casper, Wyoming, less than half a century ago, Indians were camped. Now on the spot is a thriving city of about 30,000 people. And all about it are great oil fields and refining factories. I walked around the streets and thought of the yesterdays. Just a few miles out material was gathered by Wister for his interesting story "The Virginian."

They tell me that the trees in California in the redwood district, stood long before Christ was born. Some of them are more than the length of a good sized automobile in width, and they tower toward the sky like huge flag poles, though fringed with their dress of green.

In the lobby of my hotel in Denver I watched the proudly dressed Indians that go to the celebration of Cheyenne's famous Frontier days. In Cody, Wyoming, I saw the pictures and relics of "Buffalo Bill" who at one time helped the Government fight these Indians.

All over every country are the landmarks of the yesterdays. And it is good that it is this way, for we must never forget that we have what we have because of the courageous lives and sacrifices of thousands who have played their parts and retired behind the curtains.

We are in happiness, in success and in hope, because of the yesterdays.

"Now, please be on the lookout for Danny Fox," sighed sweet Lady Love, as her bunny boy kissed her goodbye.

"Give the Ragged Rabbit Giant my best regards. And get home before dark."

"I'll remember all you say," laughed her little bunny boy, and away he hopped, hipperly lip, clipperty clip on his way to the Tip Top Sky High Mountain, the home of this big giant rabbit. It stood a good distance beyond Bunnybridge, back of the Fairy Bunny Forest, you remember, Little Reader. Maybe 10,000 hops or more, but the little rabbit didn't worry. No, siree. He could hop as fast as 63, and perhaps faster. So on he went through the Shady Forest where the birds sang in the leafy tops and the nimble squirrels ran from limb to limb, jumping easily across airy spaces with never a slip nor tumble.

By and by, after a while and a shady mile, and a song and a smile the way to beguile, the little rabbit came to the foot of the big, high mountain.

"Hello, hello! What brings you here?" Asked a bleating voice, but loud and clear, and there stood the Little Mountain Goat. Yes, sir, the same little hairy bearded fellow who had once helped the bunny boy's big elephant friend up the steep rocky path, some unmythical stories ago.

"I'm to visit my friend, the Ragged Rabbit Giant," answered the little rabbit.

Just Folks

UNANSWERED LETTERS

Letters each morning, and letters each noon,
Letters from strangers and letters from friends,
Letters from poets enclosing a tune,
Letters which come from the world's farthest ends.
Some-day I'll answer them. When, goodness knows!
Still they keep coming and still the pile grows!

Letters which ask if I had an Aunt Kate,
Letters which ask what I like in my tea,
Letters which ask if I'll give them a date,
Talk at a dinner, and what is the fee?
Letters from boosters and letters from foes,
A mountain of letters and still the pile grows!

Letters at morning, and letters at night,
And more letters coming by ship and by train.
Well do I know I should sit down to write
Answers to all, but I've tried it in vain.
I've done nothing else from a day's start to close
But dictate epistles and still the pile grows!

Think of me kindly whoever you are
Whose letter unanswered remains in the stack,
I'll get to it soon if it's not down too far,
It isn't the will, but the time that I lack.
There are hundreds of you who write letters, while I
Single-handed must tackle the job to reply.

either. I'll knock him out so quick he'll be sorry he was ever born."

convenience you." A big word for a little rabbit, eh, Little Reader? It means to put one to a lot of trouble. Don't forget.

"Won't bother me at all," laughed the Little Mountain Goat. "Follow me, but keep a sharp lookout for hawks and rattlesnakes."

Snappy Paragraphs

Sim Flinders got all bothered up today when he looked at the Mail Carrier's horse, and found that its front end was a whole lot lower than the back end, and he at first wondered if the animal had been remodeled, but soon learnt that it was merely standing with its front feet in a gully.

Sile Kildew, who a few years ago passed the age when he wanted to marry but couldn't find a girl that would have him, has now come to the stage when he could marry the woman he don't want.

Raz Barlow saw a rabbit cross the road late yesterday evening, and when he whistled right fast the rabbit stopped. Still Raz don't deserve credit for any extra whistling ability, as all rabbits have a habit of stopping when anybody whistles at them.

"Oh, I will, I will," promised the little rabbit, and then off they started to climb the steep, right up and up mountain side. No easy matter for a little bunny, but simple for a sure-footed mountain goat.

"Oh my, this knapsack is growing heavier every hop," sighed the bunny boy, all of a sudden.

"Hang it on my back," laughed the little goat. "Fasten the straps on my horns so it won't slip off," and he squatted down so that the little rabbit could reach up without climbing on a rock.

"There, it's on," panted the little rabbit. "But don't wiggle your head. It might slip down." Then up again they began to climb, zig zagging around the big boulders and in between piled-up rocks, slipping and sliding on the loose stones and pebbles.

"Are we 'most to the top?" gasped the little bunny, by and by, after a while, but nary a smile, for it seemed like a mile and maybe more, for his feet were commencing to feel quite sore.

"Look down and see the meadow green All wavy like an emerald sheen."

The Bubbling Brook, a silver string, And Happy Bluebird on the wing," advised the kind little mountain goat, hoping that the bunny boy might forget the pain in his feet.

"I can just see the top of our little white bungalow," panted the little rabbit. "It's far, far away, isn't it?"

And in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

H. B. Slaughenhaus, Packard--Hupmobile Distributor, Will Give Valuable Prizes for a Suitable Slogan!

PRIZES—

First—$25 in Gold and a $300 Credit Voucher

Second—$15 in Gold and a $200 Credit Voucher

Third—$10 in Gold and a $150 Credit Voucher

Honorable Mention—A $100 Credit Voucher

Why We Do This

Never in the history of Pennsylvania has such a distinctive, dignified and high grade slogan contest been offered, especially originating from one of the greatest automobile houses in Southern Pennsylvania. The fact that this far-reaching slogan contest is launched by this old-established concern stamps it immediately as one of the squarest propositions ever offered. It is a well-known fact that high-grade advertising is the life of up-to-date business methods. We want the good people of this vicinity to better know the Packard and the Hupmobile and our company. We want to greatly increase our sales this year and for this purpose have set aside a large fund for publicity to bring this house to the attention of every family.

The slogan should be for Slaughenhaus's Garage—not the Packard or Hupmobile cars, although the two may be coupled.

All contest slogans must be in the hands of the judges at Slaughenhaus's Garage, Hotel LaMar Building, Chambersburg, Pa., not later than 11 a. m., August 18.

All prizes in this great publicity contest will be given absolutely free.

Credit Vouchers with Prizes 1, 2 and 3 apply only on New Cars.

All prizes must be called for between August 21, 9 a. m. and August 23, 10 p. m.

Our own employees are not allowed to enter this contest.

Honorable Mention Credit Vouchers apply on all New and Used Cars.

Directions

In advertising and in business literature short catchy phrases and sentences are very valuable. We need them and will gladly pay for them. Most of the slogans that have brought fortunes to business houses were originated by someone not connected with the houses. These are samples, "Always Reliable," "Eventually—Why Not Now," "His Master's Voice," etc. You can think of dozens as good or better. It is worth trying for. Give us your best thought. Gold and credit vouchers are going to be given to someone who least expects it. Coupon below is only for convenience. Use it or any other piece of paper. Representative local business men not connected with our firm, will be the judges. And the prizes will be awarded by them absolutely. The best slogan secures the first prize, the next the second, etc.

COUPON

I hereby submit this Slogan for the judges' consideration. I agree to abide by the decision of the judges without question.

A steam engine constructed from specifications by Thomas A. Edison in 1881 still is in use in Mt. Carmel. The engine first was used in the manufacture of electric current for the borough, but now has been relegated to the work of driving the machinery in a laundry. Edison superintended the installation of the engine in the light plant.

CLYDE L. KING,

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

No. 2-1926.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to article fifteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by adding thereto a new section to be known as section four thereof.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:

Section 4. The General Assembly is hereby authorized to provide for the consolidation of the county, poor districts, cities, boroughs and townships of the County of Allegheny, and the offices thereof, into a consolidated city and county, with the constitutional and legal capacity of a municipal corporation to be known as the City of Pittsburgh, and to provide for a charter for its government. The said charter shall be submitted to the electors of said county, at a special election to be provided for therein. If the majority of the electors voting thereon, in the county as a whole, and at least two-thirds of all the electors voting thereon in each of a majority of the cities, boroughs and townships thereof, vote in the affirmative, the act shall take effect for the whole county. If rejected, the said charter may be resubmitted to the electors in original, new or modified form, at any subsequent election until adopted.

It shall be competent, subject to the police power of the State, for the Legislature to provide in said charter:

1. For the exercise, by the consolidated city, of all the powers and duties vested in the county of Allegheny, and the poor districts thereof, and such other powers appropriate to a municipality as may be specified therein, except such powers as are specifically reserved by this section to the municipal divisions herein provided for.

2. For the election, by the people of the consolidated city, of a board of commissioners, the number to be fixed by the charter, in lieu of present county commissioners, in which board shall be vested all the powers of the consolidated city and county, except as otherwise provided in the charter.

3. For the organization of a government for the consolidated city and county, and for the election or appointment of the constitutional and other necessary officers thereof, and for their powers and duties.

4. For the organization of a court, other than those of record, in the consolidated city, and for the procedure thereof, and for the appointment of judges and officers thereof, which courts shall exercise the jurisdiction, powers and duties of the magistrates, aldermen and justices of the peace, and such other powers as may be conferred by law.

5. For the transfer to the consolidated city of the property and independence of the county of Allegheny, and the poor districts thereof, and of such property and independence of the cities, boroughs and townships thereof as relate to the powers and duties of said consolidated city, and to provide for an equitable adjustment and payment of such indebtedness, and for this purpose, any taxation therein shall be uniform taxation within the meaning and intent of other provisions of this Constitution.

6. For the assessment of property for taxation, the levying and collection of taxes, and the payment of the cost of any public improvement, in whole or in part, by special assessment upon abutting and non-abutting property, particularly benefited thereby, and, for the purpose of real estate so charged shall be classified as urban, suburban and rural, and assessments made in accordance with such classification.

7. For the creation, by the board of commissioners, of districts for the purpose of regulating the location, size, area, bulk and use of buildings and premises.

8. For the creation by the board of commissioners, of special districts for the purpose of acquiring, constructing, maintaining, operating or contracting for, any public property, work, improvement, utility or service, not for the exclusive benefit of any one municipal division, and for the payment of the costs and maintenance of such property, work, improvement, utility or service, there may be special taxes levied throughout such special districts respectively, separate and apart from the general city tax.

9. That it is the intent of this section that substantial powers be reserved to the cities, boroughs and townships situated in Allegheny County. To this end the board of commissioners shall provide for the continued existence of the said cities, boroughs and townships, as municipal divisions of the consolidated city, under their present names and forms of government, subject to the laws provided for government of municipalities of their respective forms and classes, except as provided in the charter, and with their present boundaries, provided that the city of Pittsburgh may be designated by a term other than city and may be divided into two or more municipal divisions, and that any two or more municipal divisions of the consolidated city may, with the consent of a majority of the electors voting thereon in each of such divisions at any general or special election, be united to form a single municipal division.

The said municipal divisions shall have and continue to possess the following powers:

1. The constitutional and legal capacity of municipal corporations, except as limited in the charter.

2. The power to lay and collect taxes and to incur indebtedness, subject to the limitations which are or may be imposed by law upon cities, boroughs or townships of corresponding classification, for the purpose of carrying out any lawful power of said divisions.

3. The power to acquire, own, construct, maintain, operate or contract for all kinds of public property, works, improvements, utilities or services, which shall be within the municipal division, and principally for the use and benefit of the inhabitants thereof, provided this power shall not be taken to include the construction and maintenance of through traffic streets and the use and benefit of the inhabitants thereof, provided this power shall not be taken to include the construction and maintenance of through traffic streets and the use and benefit of the inhabitants thereof, provided this power shall not be taken to include the construction and maintenance of through traffic streets and the use and benefit of the inhabitants thereof.

4. The power to maintain a local police force, and local fire department, with the necessary buildings, apparatus and equipment therefor, which may be supplemental to the police force and fire department of the consolidated city.

5. The power to establish a limitation of indebtedness for the consolidated city and the municipal divisions thereof, provided that the total of the indebtedness of the consolidated city and the municipal divisions thereof shall not, in the aggregate, exceed the limits of the total indebtedness allowed by the Constitution to the county and to the separate municipalities.

6. All other powers not specifically granted by the charter, the consolidated city: Provided, however, That a municipal division may surrender, by majority vote of the electors voting thereon at any general or special election, any of its powers to the consolidated city, subject to the acceptance thereof by the board of commissioners.

The said charter may be amended by the Legislature, subject to ratification by a majority of the electors of the consolidated city voting thereon at any general or special election: Provided, That no amendment reducing the powers of municipal divisions shall be effective unless ratified by a majority of the electors voting thereon in each of a majority of said divisions.
